

2016-17 WITHHOLDING TAXATION POLICIES FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Withholding Tax Policies

All colleges and universities in the United States are required by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to deduct taxes from portions of an athletic scholarship for foreign student-athletes. Those portions of a scholarship that are used to pay for tuition and books are not taxable. However, scholarships covering room and board, course fees, book reimbursements and medical insurance are taxable at 14%.

Exemptions from being taxed at 14% are present under a variety of tax treaties, but the benefits vary according to the actual treaty your country has with the United States. These complex rules require a case by case analysis of a particular individual's circumstances in order to be allowed a possible tax treaty benefit. In order to explore the possibility of a tax treaty benefit, you will need visit Payroll Services in French Ad Bldg. Rm. 236 to set up an appointment with the Director. At this point, a determination can be made whether a tax treaty exists between your country and the United States.

If no tax treaty exists, Washington State University will deduct 14% from your athletic scholarship to pay these taxes. If you are living in the residence hall system, your student account will be billed at the beginning of each semester for the 14% tax. If you are living off campus a portion of the 14% tax will be deducted from each monthly stipend you receive. See the attached sheet for details on how this tax is calculated and steps you need to follow to comply with these rules.

Note that you will need to file a U.S Tax Return for each calendar year to determine if some of the withholding tax may be refunded back to you. You will be notified by International Programs and the Athletics Department of the designated tax workshop dates offered in March of each year prior to the tax filing deadline of April 15th.
